and so she has made a large quantity, packed it in dainty boxes, and tied them with holiday ribbon. In many cases, the tops of the boxes were the setting for photographs of the fair donor.

Miss Lurline Matson and the Misses Helen and Kathleen de Young of San Francisco and well known here are also adepts at "fudge" making and have followed the example of the daughter of President Taft.

"A merry send-off was given yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hamilton, Mr. Allen Hamilton and Miss E. Gregg who sailed for Honolulu, where several weeks will be spent."—S. F. Bulletin.

From Vallejo comes the following clipping: Mrs. John A. Hornberger has arrived at Mare Island from Honolulu to join Past Assistant Paymaster J. A. Hornberger, who reported for duty at the navy yard a couple of weeks since. Paymaster Hornberger was stationed at Honolulu for a year and a half following his detachment and sailing for the United States. Mrs. Hornberger remained for a couple of weeks' visit with friends in the Hawaiian capital.

Mr. M. Green and his daughter, Miss Selma Green will arrive home in a few days after having spent several months in Honolulu.—S. F. Bulletin.

Mr. Green and his daughter, Miss Green while in Honolulu were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mannie Phillips.

Captain and Mrs. W. C. Cowles, with Miss Cowles have been spending a few days in San Francisco preparatory to sailing for Honolulu, where the former is to command the naval station relieving Rear-Admiral C. P. Rees who is ordered home. Captain and Mrs. Cowles come here from New York where the former was the commanding officer of the receiving ship Hancock.—S. F. Bulletin.

Mr. Neal Power entertained at an elaborate dinner in compliment to Captain and Mrs. W. C. Cowles of the navy who are en route to their new station in Hawaii. Those invited to meet them were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Driscoll, Mr. James Murray and Mr. Edward Tobin.—S. F. Bulletin.

A very unique dinner was given by a prominent matron of San Francisco recently which will go down in history as the first 1915 Panama-Pacific affair. There were several tables each representing a nation. France was designated by pink La France roses in a crystal vase with place cards of Louis XV.

Japan's table was decorated by brass vases of cherry blossoms with place cards of oriental scenes; China was represented by a flag and chrysanthemums; England was draped in the national flag with John Bull cards, and white roses for a center piece. Germany's table bore holly berries and flags; the Panama table bore a replica of the completed canal on which were all kinds of craft, with the name cards in the design of flying machines and Market street was simulated at the hostess' table.

The dinner was given at the St. Francis and besides being elaborate, may furnish a suggestion for local aspirants to distinction for uncommon occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCandless will be numbered among the hosts of the coming week. They will preside at a dinner on Monday evening at their beautiful home on Nuuanu avenue.

Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning, U. S. A. of Fort Shafter entertained at an informal post hop at the assembly hall of Fort Shafter on Thursday evening to which the members of the post and a few society people were bidden.

The hall was elaborately and tastefully adorned by national flags and tiny fluttering pennants which fell in a flood of color from the walls and ceiling.

The evening was delightfully spent by the young people in dancing till a late hour when the guests repaired to the quarters of Major and Mrs. Dunning where a delicious buffet supper was served.

One of the most popular girls of the evening was Miss Enid Greg of San Francisco who has captured many friends and admirers during her short visit here.

Dainty in every detail was the luncheon at which Mrs. John Waterhouse presided on Wednesday, complimentary to Mrs. Mary Alexander.

This delightful luncheon was given at the Country Club, an ideal spot, and was a tribute to the skill of the hostess.

The round table was ablaze with fragrant clusters of pure white roses and lace maidenhair massed together in a cut glass bowl with clusters of the same scattered over the table.

The name cards were pretty confections handpainted in pastel coloring, in the design of parasols.

The guests at this charming luncheon were Mrs. Mary Alexander, Mrs. Walter F. Frear, Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mrs. Babbitt, Miss Grace M. Cooke, Mrs. Castle, Mrs. J. P. Cooke, Mrs. C. Montague Cooke and Mrs. S. A. Baldwin.

Civil Engineer and Mrs. Lewerenz are entertaining this evening at a Christmas Eve dinner when covers will be arranged for nine.

The table will glow with Christmas cheer, a miniature Christmas tree candle-lighted and laden with goodies for the guests holding the center of the table, while red shaded candelabra and poinsettia leaves, hand painted will form name cards.

Those bidden to partake of Mr. and Mrs. Lewerenz' hospitality are Civil Engineer and Mrs. Roy Smith of the navy, Lieut. and Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Miss Frances N. Vile and Lieut. Sahn.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Yhllips are at present entertaining as their house guests, Mrs. Phillips, the mother of Mr. Phillips and Mrs. Phillips sister, Mrs. H. Meyer, of San Francisco.

The members of the younger set are anticipating with great pleasure the possibility of a valuable acquisition to their numbers in Honolulu in the person of Miss Violet Stoeber of New York and Paris who it is rumored may arrive some time in February.

Miss Stoeber is the cultured and beautiful daughter of Mrs. Henry Frederick Wichman. She is at present at a select school in New York city but having traveled extensively through Europe is highly cultured and accomplished.

Miss Stoeber may come to the islands chaperoned by Mrs. Seton Wilder, daughter of Signor Seton of Rome and descendant of an aristocratic family of the south, who during previous visits in Honolulu has been very extensively entertained by the smart set.

Mrs. Wilder and Mrs. Wichman are very intimate friends and unless the latter decides to depart for the eastern metropolis, Mrs. Wilder will again be the motif of social activities.

Mrs. Samuel Dunning of Fort Shafter entertained at a very charming tea from 4 to 6 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at her quarters at the military post in honor of her house guests Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, Miss Enid Gregg and Mr. Allen Hamilton of San Francisco.

Potted lace maidenhair and brass jardinières of American Beauty roses filled the rooms with fragrance and many called during the hours of receiving to meet these charming visitors to our shores.

Mrs. Dunning received, assisted by Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Gregg and delicious refreshments of tea, coffee and ices were served the guests.

At the tea table made beautiful by a profusion of American Beauty roses and delicate lace maiden hair fern, in a tall vase and strewn over the lace cloth, tea and coffee cups were presided over by Mrs. Charles Wilder while a very attractive feature of the afternoon were the vocal selections rendered by Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, and Miss Enid Gregg who charmed all present by their delightful singing.

About twenty guests called during the afternoon, many of the younger officers of the post assisting in entertaining them.

Mrs. Dunning is always an apt and charming hostess and occasions over which she presides are long remembered.

Judge and Mrs. S. M. Ballou will entertain informally on Christmas day with a Christmas tree, which will be laden with toys, sweets and other good things for a few children of friends.

Rear Admiral Giles B. Harber, retired and Mrs. Harber who have been visiting at the quarters of Lieutenant and Mrs. Samuel L. Graham at Mare Island, since their return from a brief visit to Honolulu left Tuesday for Washington, D. C. where they are to spend the winter.—S. F. Bulletin.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hamilton, of San Francisco, who have been the house guests of Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning of Fort Shafter are departing today in the Mongolia for their home in San Francisco.

Miss Enid Gregg and Mr. Allen Hamilton who with them came to visit Major and Mrs. Dunning, to the delight of their friends here have decided to postpone their return home, being enchanted with our island life.

Miss Gregg holds an enviable position in the smart set of the big metropolis and is a charmingly cultured and refined girl with many accomplishments, and attractive personality.

She has already won many friends in the younger set of Honolulu who are anticipating entertaining for her after the excitement of the holiday season.

A new service bridge club has been organized which will meet the first Monday, after New Year's at the quarters of Mrs. Kennedy, wife of Major Kennedy of Fort Shafter.

The club will meet on alternate Mondays and comprises the ladies of the army, navy, and marine corps.

Mrs. Charles Wilder was hostess at a very enjoyable afternoon picnic party yesterday at Diamond Head complimentary to Mr. Marbour Lathrop.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Sheedy who during the attachment of the former to the Revenue cutter Thetis have been living at the Pleasanton expect to remain at this beautiful hotel for the remainder of the winter in the early spring they are anticipating going to housekeeping.

Mr. Carmichael entertained on Thursday evening at an elaborately appointed chrysanthemum dinner at the Hotel Courtland for a few of his intimate friends.

The round table was a sparkling symphony yellow being chosen as the motif for floral decoration.

A large branching gold basket occupied the center of the table, whence issued long stemmed feathery golden chrysanthemums and foliage. The handle was adorned by fairy bows of green and gold satin streamers which afterwards rippled down along the cloth.

Yellow silk shaded candelabra, in the form of inverted chrysanthemums were placed about the centerpiece, and the souvenir place cards were dainty Japanese silk fans, tied with artistic bows of satin ribbon in the predominating shades.

After dinner the guests enjoyed music and informal dancing till a late hour.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lyons, Miss Grace Robertson, Miss Williams, Miss Edith Williams, Miss Buchanan, Miss Caille Lucas, Mr. Worrall, Mr. Mulford, Mr. George McEldowney, Mr. Robert McEldowney and the host.

The feature upon which will hang all thought and ambition after the strain and stress of the holidays will be the 1911 February floral parade which is shaping up in great style. Numerous committees have been organized and until the Christmas idea prevailed exerted all their energies toward making this feature memorable.

About forty-five cars have already been promised and 'tis said their decoration will be astonishing.

A committee on suggestions has been formed to whom those desirous of entering their cars, but lacking the requisite skill in suggestion and design may turn for aid. These ladies are Mrs. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Arthur Wall, Mrs. A. A. Wilder and Mrs. Gusie Schmidt.

The automobile committee of which Mr. Fred Smith is chairman comprises Mrs. H. G. Noonan, Mrs. Charles B. Cooper, Mrs. Mannie Phillips, Mr. Sherwood Lowrey, Dr. A. E. Wall and Mr. Frank Armstrong.

It is to be hoped that the press car this year may be a strong feature of the parade, which will above all others hold first place in the reviewing field.

Mrs. Charles Wilder was hostess at a charming luncheon party and picnic yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Klamp, Diamond Head. It was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hamilton, San Francisco, who have been house-guests of Major and Mrs. Dunning, of Fort Shafter. About twelve guests were bidden to pay the farewell compliment. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton leave for their home today by the P. M. S. S. Mongolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Ryer entertained delightfully at dinner Saturday evening in the small red room of the Fairmont, the affair being in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane of Honolulu who have been extensively entertained during their visit in San Francisco.—Town Talk.

Norman E. Gedge, vice president of the Inter-Island Steamship Company, is at the St. Francis with Mrs. Gedge, registered from Honolulu.—S. F. Call.

Miss Florence Plummer sailed today for the Hawaiian Islands, where she will remain for several weeks as the house guest of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Plummer, formerly Miss Kathryn Burns. Miss Plummer accompanied Mrs. Anna Burns, Miss Kate Cousins and Percy Burns on her trip.—S. F. Call.
